

the little book about

the
Ocean

by Margot Hislop

The ocean covers nearly 71% of the surface of the earth ... that's much more ocean than land!

The ocean is different temperatures in different places. It is warm along the middle - at the equator, and gets cooler as you move away towards the poles - near the south pole and north pole.

